

Publish in the Journal of Population Ageing

We have a particular focus on empirical research articles, but also accept theoretical and conceptual contributions, on aspects of population ageing from across the globe.

Editors-in-Chief: Sarah Harper and George Leeson, University of Oxford, UK

Managing Editor: Nana Nanitashvili, University of Oxford, UK

Book Review Editor: Kenneth Howse, University of Oxford, UK

Regional Editorial Boards

- Africa: Latif Dramani, University of Thies, Senegal
Jaco Hoffman, North-West University, South Africa
Lucy W. Maina, Kenyatta University, Kenya
Jane Marie Ong'olo, African Union Commission, Ethiopia
- Asia Pacific: Nicolas Cherbuin, Australian National University (ANU)
Chen Gong, Peking University, China
Hafiz Khan, University of West London, UK
Yasuhiko Saito, Nihon University, Tokyo, Japan
Suresh Sharma, Institute of Economic Growth, Delhi University Enclave, India
- Europe: Christopher Davis, University of Oxford, UK
Gabriele Doblhammer, University of Rostock, Germany
Pearl Dykstra, Erasmus University Rotterdam, The Netherlands
Valentina Hlebec, University of Ljubljana, Slovenia
Martin Knapp, London School of Economics, UK
Wolfgang Lutz, Institute for Applied Systems Analysis, Austria
Bo Malmberg, Stockholm University, Sweden
Jolanta Perek-Bialas, Jagiellonian University, Cracow, Poland
- Latin America: Johannes Doll, Federal University of Rio Grande do Sul (UFRGS), Brazil
Rosa Kornfeld-Matte, UN Independent Expert, Chile
- North America: Theodore D. Cosco, University of Oxford / Simon Fraser University, Canada
Michael Hurd, RAND Corporation, CA, USA
Ronald Lee, University of California, Berkeley, CA, USA
S Jay Olshansky, University of Illinois, IL, USA
Linda Waite, University of Chicago, IL, USA

The Journal of Population Ageing examines the broad questions arising from global population ageing. It provides a forum for international cross-disciplinary debate on population ageing, focusing on theoretical and empirical research and methodological innovation and development. It offers high quality research of interest to those working in the fields of demography, social gerontology, bio-demography, development and area studies, sociology, geography, economics, and social and health policy.

This interdisciplinary journal publishes original peer reviewed articles, and subject and literature reviews.

SUBMIT VIA: Journal of Population Ageing | Home \(springer.com\)